

Opus 1267

$42,000.00 FOB Lawrence

Opus 1267 was built in 1959 as a two-manual instrument with 7 ranks of pipes and installed in a Kansas City church. Although the original console is not available, the remainder of the organ has been releathered and rewired and is in very good condition. The original Spencer blower is included.

This organ has been temporarily connected to a vintage console and switching system (not included). We can offer several options to also provide these components. Opus 1267 is ready for inspection and audition in the Reuter assembly room.
